Repositioning for Q2 2023

There was no transaction for the quarter.

Quarterly commentary

The first three months of the year started off on a strong note with all major asset classes generating positive returns. Canadian and global equities led the way during the quarter with solid, mid-single digit returns, followed by fixed income and preferred shares. The Bank of Canada raised its overnight target rate by 0.25% to 4.50% in January and then remained on hold for the remainder of the quarter. Similarly, the Federal Reserve hiked rates twice by 0.25% since the start of the year, bringing their target range to 4.75 – 5.00%. Both Central Banks suggested that they need to closely assess future economic data and may need to tighten further. Despite strong inflation and jobs data during the quarter, rates fell across the curve as several regional banks failed in the US in March. Expectations for Central Banks to potentially pause or reverse their hiking cycle led short term rates to decline more than longer term. Corporate spreads narrowed during the first two months of the quarter but widened in March due to turmoil in the banking sector. Equity markets delivered strong results despite growing concerns in the financial sector, on expectations that Central Banks are nearing the end of monetary policy tightening. The Canadian dollar was little changed versus its US counterpart during the quarter. The relevant index returns for the Portfolio in the first quarter were: Dow Jones Canada Select Dividend Index (+5.17%), the S&P/TSX Preferred Shares Index (+2.27%) the FTSE Canada Universe Bond Index (+3.22%), the FTSE Canada Short-Term Bond Index (+1.82%), and the FTSE Canada Corporate Bond Index (+2.79%).

The Portfolio participated in the market rally by returning +2.25% during the first quarter but trailed its benchmark by 1.29% (before fees). Over the one and two year periods, the Portfolio is still well ahead of its benchmark, outperforming by 0.46% and 2.65% respectively. Within the underlying components preferred shares, and commercial mortgages outperformed their respective benchmarks during the first quarter; although this was offset by the Canadian dividend equities component which lagged its benchmark. From an asset mix perspective, the Portfolio's defensive excess cash position acted as a drag on relative performance.

Looking forward, the manager expects global economic growth to slow in 2023 but remain positive as domestic demand is supported by strong labour market dynamics and excess household savings. As a result of tight labour markets, the unemployment rate is not expected to increase much. However, the risk of recession increases as the year progresses due to the maintenance of restrictive monetary policy. Inflation pressure should continue to moderate throughout 2023 but will remain above central bank targets in terms of both level and scope. Service inflation is persistent, while goods inflation declines. Dislocations in the labour markets with more job openings than available workers continue to put pressure on wages. Central Banks have paused or are close to pausing tightening for this cycle and will plan to hold rates steady, while closely monitoring future economic data to determine whether further change is required in 2023. Against the backdrop of slowing economic growth but higher than target inflation, central banks will focus on price stability and will not pivot to stimulate growth in the near term.

Investment philosophy

Addenda provides a balanced investment strategy that seeks long-term capital appreciation and enhanced diversification through exposure to high quality fixed income and equity securities. A disciplined, dynamic asset allocation approach, blending top-down and bottom-up assessments seeks to exploit market opportunities through tactical shifts. Addenda's committee-based decision-making process leverages the firm's diversity of expertise. Their Asset Allocation Committee, led by the co-CIO, consists of those responsible for each asset class as well as their dedicated economic research team.

Investment process and risk controls

- Extensive top-down analysis of global macro-economic variables and capital markets serve to identify general investment themes and changes in market drivers on a quarterly basis. Forward-looking views, based against a 12 to 24-month horizon, reflect return and risk expectations, as well as relative valuations.
- Changes in asset mix, when triggered, seek to exploit shifting dynamics in the market environment and/or valuations.
- Addenda's actively managed bond and equity investment strategies leverage extensive fundamental research capabilities. Their bond strategy utilizes a multi-strategy approach to exploit diverse alpha sources, while equity strategies are driven by in-depth bottom-up security analysis as well as industry fundamentals. The process favors stocks with consistent earnings and free cash flow growth.
